

HOMESCHOOLING PARENTS, are you ready to leave "pandemic schooling" behind?

Get your game on for an energized and inspired year of "getting-back-to-normal" homeschooling that will go down in your family's history.

Make THIS the year that your kids remember for a lifetime.

Congratulations!

You've made it through the toughest year of homeschooling EVER!

Is your energy used up? Are you "done" and exhausted? Ready to just send the kids outside while you take a nap? Getting through the last 400+ days homeschooling your kids through "unprecedented" times has left you exhausted to the core.

Wouldn't it be nice to take the summer off without starting the overwhelming process of planning?

But you know better. That would not make your life easier come September.

You know that "pandemic schooling" has been labor intensive and so different from what you normally do as a homeschooler.

It has stretched the creativity and patience of every parent... those who normally homeschool and those who don't... those who picked up homeschooling by accident and those who've been doing it for years.

Over a year with limited gatherings, nowhere to go, and several existential crises later, here you are... you've made it! You stayed the course and now you need some inspiration and an energy boost.

Your state of mind could be in a few places right now...

1 - You're looking forward to next year because it will feel more "normal" and you're already starting to plan your homeschool - complete with all the activities that you've missed out on this year.	2 - You're drained and exhausted and you can't even think about it yet because planning seems overwhelming... back to that nap with the covers over your head!
--	--

You know this familiar feeling of overwhelm - it happens right on schedule about this time of the year and you start thinking about next year like a big blank book - waiting for YOU to fill the pages.

The list "big" things you need to work on for next year is growing long...

- transitioning to different stages
- changing interests
- curriculum evaluation
- figure out the extra curriculars
- field trips
- co-ops
- math lessons... oh my!
- outside courses you want to investigate

(cue going back to bed and putting your head straight under the covers!)

If you feel like you and your kids have hit a wall... you've used up all your creative ideas in the last year... and you are constantly looking to find something different, or do things better... and if you're just plain tired and want someone else to lead for a little while...

Then you're in luck!

Help is on the way. Help, that is, in the form of homeschool support, encouragement, and innovative energy... sent straight to you over the interwebs.

I have found, in my 20 years of homeschooling, that when I feel the way that you are feeling right now, (utterly exhausted!) after a hard year, what I need is a hard reset.

The best way to do this is to quickly make some connections to others who are doing what you're doing.

When I first started homeschooling, and clearly that wasn't even during a pandemic, I realized that I needed some support. I was overwhelmed with my four little boys, and my frustration levels were high.

When I attended my first conference, I felt like I had found my people. There were moms who I could look up to who had been in my shoes. There were moms who were right there with me, and there were moms who were even newer than I was to homeschooling. I discovered the secret and the vital importance to having a community.

Once I started becoming active with other homeschoolers, and learning from and sharing my knowledge, I felt like anything was possible, because there were people I could come to for support.

I started to look forward to conferences, and then realized how many conferences seemed to exist for niche groups within the larger homeschooling community. I decided to create my own conference where people from diverse faiths and with diverse backgrounds could come together to learn from and support each other.

Wind down from last year and get excited for next year with your own pre-season warmup with the

Transformational Education Conference: Innovate

a Realizing Genius Conference

A two day, power packed, online conference for homeschooling parents that want to super-charge their next school year with a memorable, stress free, experience that gives your family the freedom to "live-and-learn" exactly how they choose.

Perfect for families in all stages of homeschooling!

- from toddler to teen - new and veteran - thriving and struggling - large and small families

The school year is winding down, but you're already starting to put your game plan in place for next year. Join us for this two day conference. The wisdom and connection you'll feel will put you on the fast track to feeling recharged and energized to make next year the best ever for your family.

- Realize that what you do matters so that you can relax and enjoy homeschooling.
- Eliminate doubt and insecurity so you can feel assured that you are uniquely qualified to guide your kids' education.
- Inspire your family so you can work together toward a common vision.

- Identify and nurture your child's "Power Traits" so they can grow to be confident adults.
- Discover the secrets to better communication and harmony, even if this is a challenge.
- Transform your family culture to one of growth, unity, trust, and resilience.
- Learn to have difficult conversations well so you can protect the relationships in your family.
- Simplify your approach so you can instill a love of learning in your kids.

Gently guide your children through their day of learning, chores, and activities (even if you have multiple kids of different ages) and end the day smiling and peaceful at dinnertime.

14 speakers over 2 days

will give you the best of what they've learned in their combined 200 years of homeschooling that will help you take your homeschooling "learn always and everywhere" lifestyle to the next level.

Introducing Heidi Christianson, your host and guide for Innovate 2021...

I homeschooled my five boys for the last 20 years. I've mentored fellow homeschoolers for 14 years.

When I first started homeschooling, I had four little boys. To say that I was overwhelmed is an understatement.

When I first started to reach out for support, make connections, and learn from others, it changed everything for my homeschool.

Now, I want to help you.

I know what you know: your child is unique. Your child has their own gifts, talents and ways of learning. I also know that you are uniquely equipped to homeschool your child. Even when you feel lost or unsure.

My passion for helping homeschoolers has led me down many paths I never could have imagined. I earned my teaching credential and my second master's degree. I've supported homeschooling families through a charter school, through an educational leadership organization, and through workshops for parents.

As my boys have gotten older, I've realized how much I want to help other homeschooling parents like you... why? Because I attribute my homeschooling success to those I've learned from along my way.

I've asked many of my mentors and connections to come together and share their expertise with you. Because, after all, it's all about building a community you can depend on. What better lesson to teach your children than that?

I'm thrilled with this group of experts that will be joining us for the conference. What are you most excited to learn?

---

list speakers here with photo and their title and organization name

could also list the title of their talk if there's room

---

When: June 25 and 26, 2021 from 8 am - 5 pm PST

Where: From your couch or kitchen table or the playground!

Conveniently join us on Zoom from anywhere!

Can't wait to join?

{{Get your ticket here}} -- Buy your ticket now for only $25!

We guarantee that you'll benefit from all the wisdom shared at our Transformational Education Conference: Innovate 2021. Our goal is to help you feel connected, and to give you the opportunity to refresh yourself, and energize your homeschool planning for next year.

Hurry and buy your ticket now and you'll receive the Early Bird Bonus of the conference recordings from our February conference absolutely free - that is two FULL days of presentations that will help you level up your homeschool. This offer is only available until May 31, 2021.

Answers to your questions:

- When does the conference start? Both days, we start promptly at 8 am PST and will go until 5 pm.
- Are there any breaks? There are 10 minutes between speakers.
- What do I need to prepare in order to attend? You don't need to prepare anything, just come as you are with a notebook and pencil ready to take notes!
- Do I have to be there live? You should try to attend live, because showing up live gives you a chance to win raffles and prizes throughout the two days.

- What if I can't attend due to other commitments, will there be a recording? All sessions will be recorded, and the recordings are available for sale. (You can pre purchase the recordings at a significant discount, you'll have your chance during checkout! They will also be available for sale after the conference.)

{{Buy my ticket now}}

Mama, I know you're tired from a year like no other. But now is the perfect chance to give yourself the gift of stepping out of the teacher role for just two days in June. These days will help you feel inspired and ready to plan an innovative year of "getting back to normal." The wisdom you can learn from others will give you what you need to continue and make next year the best year ever. Can't wait to see you there!

{{Buy my ticket now for the low price of $25}}